

INTO A DITCH.

An M. & O. Train Wrecked by a Miscreant's Act.

Fireman Collins Killed and Engineer Ryan Seriously Injured.

Switch Between Fish Lake and Forest Lawn the Point of the Disaster.

RICHARD NAGEL ARRESTED ON SUSPICION OF BEING THE WRECKER.

He Was Captured by the Trainmen and Held Until the Next St. Louis Police Arrived—He Lives on South Broadway, in This City—His Weak Story—Recent Attempts to Wreck M. & O. Trains.

Train No. 5 on the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, the last night Southern express, leaving St. Louis at 8:35 p. m., was derailed last night near Fish Lake, Ill. The engine, express and mail coaches were hurled down a ten-foot embankment.

The smoking car left the track but remained upright. The train car and sleeper remained on the tracks. The fireman, Collins, was killed, and the engineer, Ryan, was seriously injured. The train was derailed at a point where the switch between Fish Lake and Forest Lawn was the point of the disaster.

From present indications the accident was due to a deliberate effort on the part of some miscreant to wreck the train, and it is the case this is the third attempt within ten days in this vicinity to cause death and damage on this road. On May 27 at a point three-quarters of a mile north of Forest Lawn on a little bridge a heavy beam was braced across the track. The sad but common train track was broken, and the engine knocked the pilot of the engine. Fortunately the train was not going at a high rate of speed.

On the night of June 31, three-quarters of a mile north of this same bridge a rail was torn up. A passenger train passed along, but only one car was derailed. Now comes this third attempt in which a switch was thrown with far more serious results.

No. 5 left St. Louis last night on time. Conductor Keefe was in charge. She was due in Columbia, about twelve miles from this city, at 11:30 p. m. The train was derailed at a point where the switch between Fish Lake and Forest Lawn was the point of the disaster.

The express had sped along all right for the first few miles of its journey. It had passed Fish Lake, where the switch was thrown, and the hold-up occurred some months ago. The country through this section is desolate and without settlement.

Between the two little stations the road runs along a high embankment. Just before the engine was derailed, the switch was thrown, and the train was hurled down a ten-foot embankment.

The coupling between the smoking car and the mail car was broken, and the mail car was derailed. The train was derailed at a point where the switch between Fish Lake and Forest Lawn was the point of the disaster.

Both Engineer Ryan and Fireman Collins were hurled from the embankment. A man named Richard Nagel, who was a teamster for the St. Louis Transfer Co. two years ago, had been convicted of stealing goods and was given a couple of years in the penitentiary.

The trainmen gave a description which agreed that of the man under arrest in East St. Louis. The East Side police were made acquainted with these facts, and telephoned the Post-Dispatch that Nagel admitted that he was the man who had served the term.

ON THE CHANGE RACKET.
Three confidence men swindled a number of South End saloonkeepers yesterday by working the "Jim-Gam" change racket, obtaining $5 cents or $15 at each place they visited. They were young men with clean shaven faces and well-dressed. Their method was to tender a $1 bill or $15 bill in payment for drinks and then work the "Jim-Gam" racket.

THE WEATHER.
(Indications of Forecast: Triangular-Temperature: Fair, with a few showers. Wind: Light, variable. Precipitation: White-fog, rain. Sea: Breeze, fair and cooler weather.)

For Missouri—Local rains Tuesday; clearing Tuesday afternoon or evening in west portion; Wednesday: fair, with showers. For St. Louis and vicinity—Showers Tuesday; fair Wednesday; cooler Wednesday night.

The weather has continued generally fair in the West, while there have been showers in the East. The weather continued in the interior during Monday, but during the night the temperature fell considerably below the thirty-five mark.

At All Out.
Beverly Falls, Pa., June 5.—Local miners refused to allow any coal to leave the mines for domestic consumption. The miners in all the small mines in this vicinity are out, but the best of order prevails. It is likely that all the manufacturers in the West will have to shut down their works for want of coal and the situation is alarming.

HE PROPOSED. FIXING SUGAR. BACK TO WORK

Fred Sauerwein Offers to Marry His Victim's Widow.

Suggests This Instead of Having Her Sue for Damages.

THE PROPOSAL MADE JUST AFTER HIS OWN WIFE'S DEATH.

John Anthony Hill Killed by the Saloon-keeper, and the Latter's Wife Died of a Broken Heart—Mrs. Hill Brought a Damaged Suit for $5,000 Instead of Accepting Sauerwein's Proposal of Marriage—His Way of Looking at the Matter.

Several months ago Fred Sauerwein, a saloon-keeper, shot and killed John Anthony Hill, a tailor. A few weeks later Sauerwein's wife died of a broken heart. Then Mrs. Hill brought suit for $5,000 damages against the slayer of her husband and now Sauerwein wants to marry the widow of the man he killed. It's a queer story, and what makes it all the more peculiar is that Sauerwein admits that he killed her.

The shooting took place on the night of Feb. 23. Hill and George Schoenlaub were in Sauerwein's saloon at the corner of High and O'Fallon streets and both were drinking. There was a dispute about the payment of the drinks and Sauerwein ran upstairs, secured his revolver, and began firing at his customers. The first bullet pierced Schoenlaub's back and he fell. Sauerwein then turned and started to run from the saloon, but he was caught by Hill.

Sauerwein was arrested and he is now in jail. He did not deny the charge. He said that he was in the saloon and that he was drinking. He said that he was in the saloon and that he was drinking. He said that he was in the saloon and that he was drinking.

MOORE'S WIFE'S MURDER.
In pursuit of a rumor that Sauerwein had asked the widow of the man he killed to marry him, a reporter called to-day at 1115 Blair avenue and asked to see Mrs. Hill. She said that she was not at home and that she was not at home.

"Why such a thing would be terrible," she said. "My sister would never think of such a thing as marrying the man who murdered her husband."

"Did he propose to her?" he asked. "No," she said. "He did not propose to her. He did not propose to her. He did not propose to her."

"Yes, I did," he shouted, and in a voice that could be heard by the score of loungers in his saloon. The loungers picked up their ears and listened. "Yes, I told her I would marry her and that's the truth, but it's a joke."

"A joke," he said. "Well, not altogether a joke either for me or for you. I would like to see you and I would like to see you. I would like to see you and I would like to see you."

"What did you do when she refused to take the $5,000?" he asked. "I did not do anything," he said. "I did not do anything. I did not do anything."

"Did you really mean to marry her?" he asked. "No," he said. "I did not mean to marry her. I did not mean to marry her. I did not mean to marry her."

AS HE VIEWED IT.
"Well, you see, she's young and I am not so old. If she said she could get me out of the saloon, for that is all I want, I would be glad to do it. If she said she could get me out of the saloon, for that is all I want, I would be glad to do it."

A Brass Band in Jail.
RIDGEMAN, Pa., June 5.—Hall, Kane & Co. have 100 negroes at work to-day at their Shawnee and Noble mines. The negroes arrived at the mines by special train last night at 1:30 o'clock, and were put to work to-day.

On the Brawley.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.—When the House met to-day two unsuccessful attempts were made to secure consideration of private bills.

Mr. Catches on the Committee on Rules, then brought in a resolution providing for a vote at 5 o'clock to-day on the Brawley bill, the rest of the day to be devoted to debate under the five-minute rule.

The Talk Mr. Gaston Overheard in a Washington Hotel.

Senators Were Confering With Representatives of the West.

WHAT HE HEARD USED AS A BASIS FOR A NEWSPAPER STORY.

Gaston Is a Pennsylvania Wire Manufacturer and He Was So-day a Witness Before the Senate Committee Investigating the Bribery Scandal—Refuses to Reveal Names—Given Time to Consider the Matter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.—The Senate Committee, which is investigating the alleged operations of the Sugar Trust in efforts to influence tariff legislation, resumed its sittings to-day and Walter Gaston, the wire manufacturer of Wilkes-Barre, was examined as to the truth of the story that he had, while occupying a room at the Arlington Hotel, overheard a conversation between members of the Sugar Trust and United States Senators with regard to the necessity of protecting sugar in the tariff bill.

Mr. Gaston was pressed very hard by the committee. He did not refuse to answer any question, but to a great many queries replied simply that he did not know. He said he was in the room at the Arlington hotel on the date named and supposed that there were Senators in conversation with Mr. Terrell of the Sugar Trust, who occupied the room, because of the knowledge they displayed of what had taken place in the tariff bill.

The Object of the Miners' Conference at Columbus.

Several Good Reasons Why the Strike Should Be Ended.

A GENERAL COMPROMISE ADVOCATED BY CONSERVATIVES.

Troops and Gatling Guns for Shelbyville—Blasting Cartridges of Coal on the Track—Three Companies Sent by Gov. Altgeld to Carterville—Strikers Slain From Ambush.

COLUMBUS, O., June 5.—Substantially all of the officers and district presidents of the United Mine Workers' of America met to-day at the Grand Central Hotel. They opened with an executive session.

An effort is being made by outsiders, it is understood, to have these officers declare in favor of a resumption of work at all mines in Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, Indiana, Central Illinois and certain other contiguous territory provided operators in such territory, or some of them, consent to pay the price that is asked for mining.

The argument that is being brought to bear to effect this plan is that while the miners as a rule have been law-abiding and won a fair share of public sympathy some of them seem to feel disposed to disobey President McKinley's injunction to keep within the law, and because of such disobedience public sympathy may turn the other way.

Mr. Gaston appeared to appreciate the delicacy of his position, and stated that he overheard a conversation on the subject of efforts to influence tariff legislation, resumed its sittings to-day and Walter Gaston, the wire manufacturer of Wilkes-Barre, was examined as to the truth of the story that he had, while occupying a room at the Arlington Hotel, overheard a conversation between members of the Sugar Trust and United States Senators with regard to the necessity of protecting sugar in the tariff bill.

Five Are Dead

Inmates of an Orphan Asylum Eat a Poisonous Herb.

They Found It While at Play and Mistook It for Rag Root.

SEVEN OTHERS STRICKEN AND ARE NOW DANGEROUSLY ILL.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., June 5.—As a result of eating a poisonous herb which they had mistaken for rag root, five small inmates of the Catholic orphanage of Mercy Home died in great agony during the night.

The dead are: JAMES FOSTER, 10 years old; JOHN CALLAHAN, 10 years old; THOMAS CAMPBELL, 10 years old; AUGUSTUS POWERS, 10 years old; JOHN DOWNEY, 10 years old.

Seven others are seriously ill. The home is situated in Wilson Park, on the hill back of the Catholic orphanage. There are about 200 children in the home.

The boys were out playing in the park yesterday afternoon, when one of the boys discovered a pungent root, which, after tasting, he declared to be rag root.

About dusk one of the boys was taken with cramps, and within an hour all who had eaten of the poisonous vegetable were deathly sick.

Such simple remedies as the sisters knew were applied for the relief of the sufferers, but without avail. Then physicians were called from Tarrytown.

The first to succumb to the poison was the little fellow who had made the discovery. He died about 8 o'clock. Four others died between that hour and daylight and very little hope is entertained of saving the lives of the others. The youngest of the victims was not over 6 years old and the oldest was quite ill, or the inmates of the institution are orphans.

SUIT FOR $150,000.
The Rohan Bros. Claim Is on Trial To-day.

The suit brought by Charles Miller as trustee of the defunct Rohan Boiler Works Co. against the Municipal Electric Light and Power Co. for $150,000 was put on trial to-day in Judge Klein's Court.

The plaintiffs allege that the defendants, who are the Rohan Bros., conspired to defraud them on a mechanic's lien for a plant which they furnished the defendants at Nineteenth and Gratiot streets.

Some time ago when James Campbell was President of the Municipal Company the dispute between the Rohan Bros. and the city was so warm over this matter that the city officials considered it advisable to have on guard at his door one of Chief Desmond's Detectives to prevent, as he alleged, violence being done him by Philip Rohan.

CAMPBELL now says that he is no longer even an interested spectator, as the Rohan company has absorbed the old corporation.

CHOPPED THE SIGN DOWN.
How Between Olive Street Merchants Which Drew a Big Crowd.

Mr. H. Hirschberg, the optician, who occupies the first floor of the building at the northeast corner of Seventh and Olive streets, and Mrs. Z. Godefroy, who occupies the second floor of the same edifice, annexed a large gathering yesterday at their contention over a sign which Hirschberg attempted to place in position in front of the second story. Godefroy chopped away the fastenings of the sign.

WRECKED BY A STORM.

Cyclone Sweeps Over a Nebraska Town
With Destructive Force.

OMAHA, Neb., June 5.—A special from Cal-way, Neb., says: About 7 o'clock last eventhe people of this place were alarmed by a appearance of a dense black cloud in the northwest, which indicated a hurricane. It there at an alarming rate, sweeping behind it a cloud of dust, which enveloped everything in darkness. People rushed to places of safety. For about half an hour the gale swept with terrible fury over

The Episcopal church, a handsome structure of brick and stone, is located on a lot at the corner of Hall and Second streets. The building is a lodge room by various names, and is a fine structure. The Episcopal Church is blown off its foundation and badly twisted. The Methodist church is the same size and location; the schoolhouse, a fine two-story brick building, a total wreck. Nearly all the houses and outbuildings in the town were damaged and more or less injury was done to churches and other buildings. As far as the loss of life is concerned, no one is known to be killed, but it is impossible to estimate the amount of damage, but it will reach many thousands of dollars.

STILLS RISING.

Missouri River Threatening Abolition With Widespread Foundation.

Promoter, Kan., June 8.—The river is still rising, and the railroads are in a precarious condition.

A heavy rain of stone has been thrown in the city since the last two days, but is doing the bank in the last two days, but is doing no effect. The telegraph companies are moving their lines to the other side of the road, as several poles dropped into the river the night.

One hundred and fifty men are at work in rip rap work.

OLDEN BAILED OUT.

A Courser Still Paints on His Identity in London.

Richard Odium, who was arrested by Bergham and Third District officers yesterday morning on suspicion of having assisted in holding up John Coorsen at Nineteenth street, about 3 o'clock

Monday night and robbing him of $1,000, has been released on bail.

His brother-in-law, Robert E. Lee, security, and his brother, John, still bail him for the four Courts.

His friends were sworn out, it is said, against his brother yesterday afternoon by J. C. Concheringham, then with highway robbery, and Coorsen will insist that Odium was the man who was released around noon, despite Mr. Lee's positive statement that Odium was with him during the robbery.

Odium has a brother who is a member of the Third District. Odium has been out for five days ago, and his father died but a few days ago, and his father argued that he would hardly commit highway robbery at such a time.

Keoper Generally Adided.

George Keoper has moved from his apartment in the rear of 1128 North Ninth street to rooms on Third street.

His father, through the assistance of his daughter in SUNDAY'S PORTFOLIO, has received a number of communications simply excellent for his needs.

A GIFT TO THE EXCHANGE.

Portrait of the Late A. T. Harlow Presented To-Day.

A portrait in oil of the late Alonzo T. Harlow, President of the Merchants' Exchange, was unveiled on the Exchange floor at closing hour to-day and formally presented to the merchants by Mr. R. P. Annan, Mr. Harlow was one of the most popular merchants of his day and his death, which was sincerely regretted, his large circle of friends determined to perpetuate his memory.

Mr. Wilton Cunningham, the young St. Louis artist who has just returned from Paris was instructed to paint a portrait in oil, which was to be hung in the Exchange. With only a photograph and the criticism of friends, the artist made a remarkable likeness in which he portrayed the character as well as the features of the man.

At 10 o'clock to-day President Boyd called the Exchange to order, and Mr. Annan presented the portrait with a graceful eulogy of the man they honored. President Boyd accepted the painting on behalf of the Exchange and said it was but a fitting tribute to one they held so dear in memory. The picture will be hung in a prominent place in the hall.

THE MURDER.

Inquest on the Mutilated Man by Gen. Hewston's Umbrella.

THE STORY OF THE PRODIGAL QUARREL TOLD IN DETAIL.

The Deadly Umbrella—"I Will Poke This in Your Eye"—The Witness Turned Away His Head When the Thrust Was Made—A Camp-Stool as a Club.

LONDON, June 5.—Dr. George Danford P. Thomas, the coroner for the central district of London, held an inquest today in St. Pancras upon the remains of George Burton, the itinerant musician who was killed on May 30 in Acton street by Gen. John Hewston of California, who thrust the point of his umbrella into Burton's left eye. Grissom Ricketts, solicitor, represented Gen. Hewston, who was present at the inquest.

Mrs. Emma Burton, the widow of the musician, did not wish to see the body, but identified the clothing of the deceased as having belonged to her husband. Mrs. Burton said that she had been married for twenty-two years and for the last four years she had been separated from her husband. The couple had four children, the youngest of whom was 9 years old. Burton made his wife an allowance of from 6 to 8 shillings per week. He earned his living as a musician and was in the habit of playing outside of saloons.

G. A. Burton, a scavenger, son of the deceased, identified his father's body.

THE QUARREL.

Benjamin Bowring, a vestry employee, said that as Gen. Hewston passed, his arm struck the harp, which was carried by one of the musicians. The General thereupon gave the instrument a push and Burton, who was carrying it in his hand, said: "Why did you push that harp?"

To this the General is said to have replied: "It hit me on the arm." Burton, according to Bowring, then remarked: "You had no business to do that." The General, still according to Bowring, thereupon exclaimed: "I will poke this in your eye," at the same time raising his umbrella. Burton said: "Do it."

The General then thrust the end of his umbrella into Burton's left eye, and he fell back, striking his head against a wall. Burton was taken to St. Pancras hospital, where he died on May 30. The General was arrested on the charge of manslaughter.

James Bryan gave important evidence for Gen. Hewston, saying he was walking near the scene when he saw Gen. Hewston being hustled. The General, he added, endeavored to extricate himself, and Burton raised the camp-stool in his hand and threw it at him. Gen. Hewston, who had lifted his umbrella "in order" to avoid the blow, struck the General on the head with it.

This witness also testified that he heard a bystander remark after Burton had been killed: "That was a pretty good blow for a man with an umbrella." The General was taken to St. Pancras hospital, where he died on May 30. The General was arrested on the charge of manslaughter.

THE CAMP-STOOL.

Upon cross-examination, Bowring said that Burton carried a camp-stool, which he folded until it had the appearance of a thick walking-stick. The man carrying the harp was walking with Burton, and the third musician was a little way ahead of his companions. It had been raining and the General's umbrella was folded up tightly. Gen. Hewston, who was walking in front of the group, saw Burton's camp-stool and threw it at him.

RESTRICTING IMMIGRATION.

A Non-Partisan Commission to Prepare a Code of Laws.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The plan of a non-partisan commission to prepare a comprehensive code of laws restricting immigration has been informally discussed at a gathering of prominent Republican Representatives. The members met casually in one of the cloak-room, but the discussion took such an interesting phase that about twenty members were drawn into it. The cloak-room doors were closed, and the informal talk on the subject developed into a caucus.

It was the general expression of such men as Messrs. Reed, Doolittle and Cannon that the immigration question should be wholly divorced from politics. In order to accomplish this, it was suggested that Congress should create a national commission of fifteen members, representing all parties, so that the bill would not be borne by one party.

The commission would consider the entire immigration question, changing and amplifying old laws and suggesting new ones. The commission would be composed of fifteen members, representing all parties, so that the bill would not be borne by one party.

OKLAHOMA AND NEW MEXICO.

Chances of the Bills for Their Advancement to a Standstill.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The supporters of bills for the advancement of New Mexico and Oklahoma to statehood have not lost courage. Several times in the course of the present session the two statehood bills have been on the eve of receiving consideration from the House, but each time they were sidetracked by important legislation or party misunderstandings. Bills for the admission of Utah and Arizona were passed by the House in the last session, but the bills for New Mexico and Oklahoma have not yet been passed.

BLOODTHIRSTY RELATIVES.

A Feud Between Uncle and Nephew in a Tennessee Road.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 5.—George Ladd and Newton Ladd, uncle and nephew, both well-known citizens of Maury County, met in the road early this morning and immediately began the exchange of pistol shots. Newton recovered several wounds and will die. George is also badly hurt, but the exact cause of the feud is not known. It is supposed to have produced the bloody strife.

MURDERED FOR MONEY.

A Month-Long Farmer Who Had Thousands Secreted About His House.

LEWISTON, Me., June 5.—It has been discovered that Joseph A. Sawyer, the month-long farmer, who was mysteriously murdered two weeks ago, had at the time of his death about $10,000 in cash, notes and bank books secreted in various places about his house. It was found by the police hidden away in bags, old stockings and chests. The detection of the murderer seems as far off as ever. The offer of $1,000 reward by the town and he has stimulated effort, but nothing has been discovered.

GIVEN THE LIE.

Thomas Barnes Fined $500 for Beating a Woman.

This morning Thomas Barnes, who is given a bad reputation by the police, was fined $500 by Judge Morris on the charge of disturbing the peace of Jesse Wallace, a woman on whom he had been lavishing his affection. Between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning he got into a dispute with the Wallace woman at her residence, 109 Ninth street, during which he kicked and beat her until tired. Then he left the house. The woman, covered with blood and bruised, was taken to the City Dispensary, where she had her head and face treated. She was then taken to the City Dispensary, where she had her head and face treated. She was then taken to the City Dispensary, where she had her head and face treated.

THE CAMP-STOOL.

Upon cross-examination, Bowring said that Burton carried a camp-stool, which he folded until it had the appearance of a thick walking-stick. The man carrying the harp was walking with Burton, and the third musician was a little way ahead of his companions. It had been raining and the General's umbrella was folded up tightly. Gen. Hewston, who was walking in front of the group, saw Burton's camp-stool and threw it at him.

HAIL TO THE CHIEF.

Homes From the Only McNichol

Friends are scarce and hard to find. We regret it—never mind—There's a man in town to-day Who saves for all his life. He knows the struggles many a soul has had with fate beyond control. He's solved the problem, let him speak! He'll help you for small sums each week.

How easy for a honest man To wash the long nasal light. But when the family draws a breath, How weary are the eyes of great distress. Forever, without place or home. For board and lodging money gone. And harder times increase their woes.

Pleaded Guilty to Murder.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 5.—Otto Winkgenitz, indicted under the name of Otto Winkgenitz, pleaded guilty to an indictment of murder in the first degree before Judge Kerr. The sentence was deferred until Friday morning.

Under the State law he can be hanged on a plea of guilty, but his attorneys hope to save his life by convincing the court that he did not have full possession of his mind when he voluntarily put his neck in the halter. Chas. Ernsch, Winkgenitz's associate, is still in a critical condition.

WINDSOR WATER

Do you feel full, languid, low-spirited, fullness or bloating after eating, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, frequent headaches, "floating specks" before eyes, nervous prostration and drowsiness after meals?

If you have any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease the greater the number of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it.

Mrs. Mary Mott, of Green Rock, Pleasant Co., N. Y., writes: "Before using your Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery everything I ate would ferment in my stomach, and my tongue was so terribly coated. I thought nothing would remove it. Since taking the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I can eat a good meal, and enjoy it."

Free from iron and rich in cooling alkalis. Will keep the blood cool; acts upon the kidneys and skin. Free from impurities; a natural remedy; perfect table water, and in no way inclined to hurt the blood.
